

Lavallee Brensinger Principal Receives “40 Under Forty” Honor

Chris Drobat, Vice President and Principal at Lavallee Brensinger Architects in Manchester, NH, was named this week to the prestigious “40 Under Forty” class of 2011. The annual awards program is sponsored by the Business and Industry Association of New Hampshire and the New Hampshire Union Leader.

As business owners and company executives, the honorees are recognized for their contributions to their organizations and to their communities. A reception will be held on March 8th for this year’s recipients.

Since 1999, Chris has been a key contributor to Lavallee Brensinger Architects’ work throughout New England. Chris is passionate about sustainable and high performance design, and has recently led several LEED® and CHPS projects, which are recognized for their energy efficiency and responsible use of building materials and resources. As an experienced Project Manager, his in-depth technical knowledge is complemented by his strong communication and team management skills.

“(The 40 under Forty program) is intended to both showcase and honor those who are contributing so much to life in New Hampshire and to encourage others to do likewise,” said Union Leader President and Publisher Joseph W. McQuaid.

Chris volunteers his time in many meaningful ways including involvement with Manchester Moves, Manchester Community Music School, and several other organizations. He is a key member of Lavallee Brensinger Architects’ Education Design Group, having recently led successful projects for the Salem School District, Manchester Community College, and Profile School. Chris is currently a senior member of the architectural team for the new City of Manchester Municipal Complex.
